

KING'S BUSINESS SCHOOL

Qatar Centre for Global Banking & Finance

Bank of England

Call for papers

Workshop in Empirical Macroeconomics

We are pleased to announce that on 9 May 2025, King's College London will host a Workshop in Macroeconomics, with presentations in Empirical (Time Series) Macroeconomics. The invited speakers for this event are

- Jonas Arias
- Marta Banbura
- Raffaella Giacomini
- Domenico Giannone

The event is organized by the Macroeconometrics Network (<http://www.macroconometrics.net/>). It is sponsored by the Economics Department of the King's Business School, by the Qatar Centre for Global Banking and Finance, King's College London, and by the Bank of England. Travelling and accommodation costs are not covered, and we will charge a fee for participation. Up-to-date information on the workshop will be made available on the website <https://www.macroeconometrics.net/events>.

The event will take place at King's Business School, King's College London, Bush House, 30 Aldwych, London WC2B 4BG. We plan to start in the morning and to finish with dinner. The workshop is open to both presenters and external participants. PhD students from any year of their PhD are particularly encouraged to submit. The event will take place in person.

For paper submissions, please send a full paper

<https://forms.gle/PMYC1nDUe8hFZZL28>

no later than March 1, 2025. Extended abstracts will not be considered. Notification of acceptance/rejection can be expected by end of March.

For any questions or problems with the submission, please email

macroeconometrics.net@gmail.com

We hope to see you soon at King's College London.

The organizers:

Annika Camehl (Erasmus University Rotterdam)

Michele Piffer (Bank of England and KCL)

October 22, 2024